

MINE COMMUNITY LIAISON COMMITTEE

Worsley Alumina's mine near Boddington and refinery near Collie each have a Community Liaison Committee (CLC).

The CLCs take in representatives from local communities, neighbouring properties, local and state governments, non-government organisations, environmental groups and the Aboriginal community.

Why does Worsley have CLCs?

The CLCs provide for accurate, open and timely communication between Worsley and the wider community. This includes information pertaining to environmental, social and economic issues.

CLC members meet quarterly and act as conduits of information between the community and Worsley.

If you would like more information about the CLCs or are interested in becoming a member, contact Amanda Blunt on 9734 9536.
